

“Offer your skills as a volunteer for any number of pressing issues, projects or organizations. Assist non-native or native-led wellness, social justice, or environmental NPO/NGO organizations that benefit indigenous communities with your time, resources and/or money.”

There are hundreds of organizations focused on indigenous rights, social issues, resurgence and wellness in Canada and the USA. For a progressive collection of over 150 native/non-native partnerships, coalitions and bridge-building initiatives in Canada see (<http://transformingrelations.wordpress.com>). Canadian Roots Exchange at (www.canadianroots.ca) is a great cross-cultural initiative for native and non-native youth to “break down stereotypes, open dialogue, and build honest relationships between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people living on this land.” Major indigenous resistance grassroots movements at this time of writing are Idle No More, Unist’ot’en Camp, Barriere Lake Solidarity, Klabona Keepers, Yinka Dene Alliance, Free Grassy Narrows and Oshkimaadziig Unity Camp; networks or organizations are RAVEN (Respecting Aboriginal Values and Environmental Needs), Defenders of the Land, Indigenous Environmental Network and Families of Sisters in Spirit; and the court challenge Hupacasath First Nations vs Canada-China FIPA agreement.
